ZR-3 Passes Azores; Now Is Speeding on Second 1,600 Mile Leg of Trip

Great Airship Makes Spurt of 130 Miles an Hour on Part of Voyage.

ON COLUMBUS' ROUTE

By United Press.

BERLIN, Oct. 13.—Speeding safely 1,600 miles from her starting point at Friedrichshafen, the ZR-3 reached the Azores this afternoon and passed high above the little group of islands, steadily pursuing her westward course toward America.

Wireless reports reached Friedrichshafen that the ship, making good time, had arrived at the Azores at 2 P. M. The Zeppelin's course takes her on another 1,600 mile leg to Bermuda where she turned northward to Lakehurst, N. J. Spanish stations relayed messages reporting the safe progress of the ship.

Direct communication with the Zeppelin, which was lost this afternoon, owing to atmospheric conditions was resumed and the airship reported her own as having reached the first of the Azores shortly before noon, Greenwich time.

"All are well on board," was the message picked up by the Friedrichshafen wireless station. The last one sent to the Zeppelin was to a member of the crew from his "wonder" which is affectionate Swabian dialect for wife.

The dirigible now is following the course taken by Christopher Columbus a little more than 400 years ago. This flight to Azores required 3 1/2 hours, not particularly fast time, although the Zeppelin at one time was driven along at a speed of 120 miles an hour, leaving Friedrichshafen, mother nest of Zeppelins for a quarter of a century, this latest and probably last of the breed that was to make Germany supreme in the air swung westward over France early in the morning. The start, in a dripping fog, followed by hundreds who went to the airfield to witness the departure, was made at 6:10 A. M.

For a time the ZR-3's pilot, Dr. Eckener, hesitated as to its course, the wireless chatterer busy with land stations. Then he headed for Belfast, France, and crossed France, the northern tip of Spain, the Bay of Biscay and then headed out to sea.

CLATHAM, Miss., Oct. 13.—Weather conditions in the path of the ZR-3 are becoming unsettled and storm may hold up progress, observers on the coasters Detroit, Milwaukee and the supply ship Potosi reported to the Navy Department today. Officials said that if the storm develops the dirigible may not arrive at Lakehurst before Wednesday night or Thursday morning.

Admiral Flierice, chief of operations, today ordered the Milwaukee, now stationed 250 miles east of Halifax, to move to a point 500 miles farther south to insure better radio contact with the airship.

LAKESHURST, N. J., Oct. 13.—"I expect the ZR-3 to arrive between 5 and 6 A. M. Wednesday if the present atmospheric conditions do not change," Lieutenant Commander Pierce, United States Navy, in charge of the air station here said today.

"Everything is ready to receive the Zeppelin," he said. "In case conditions are unfavorable to the ship entering the harbor such as a side gale of more than 15 miles an hour, she will hang in the open. After dark apparatus will be attached to her and she will be pulled over to the mast."

W. C. T. U. RAISES $110,000 TOWARD $250,000 FUND

By United Press.

HARRISBURG, Oct. 13.—Mrs. Leah Cobb Weston, president of the W. C. T. U., pledged to raise for Governor Pinchot but by the time the Legislature meets to reconsider the question of appropriation for the drive against liquor, she hopes to have raised the total amount pledged.

"We have collected so far a total of $110,000. Fortunately we have been able to keep ahead of the requisitions of Governor Pinchot but by the time the Legislature meets to reconsider the question of appropriation for the drive against liquor, she hopes to have raised the total amount pledged," Mrs. Weston told the United Press today.

The money as it has come in, has been placed upon request by the Governor at the disposal of the attorney general, Mrs. Weston revealed. This was the original plan for disposing of the fund and, although no account has been kept of the actual use to which the money was put, it was said, the maintenance of the enforcement unit of the State Department of Justice has been kept up by means of the $110,000 contributed so far.

With approximately eight months to go before any state appropriation may be made available, the balance of $140,000 must be raised to put the fund over the top, and Mrs. Weston announced her intention to stimulate a drive at the meeting for activity in raising the difference during the work the governor is doing and the handling it would be to him to be unable to furnish the means for conducting the administration's enforcement program.

The W. C. T. U. convention will be held starting tomorrow and lasting until Friday.

DONORA YOUTHS HELD FOR ENTICING LOCAL GIRL OF FIFTEEN

Held on serious charges, John Bohin and Emanuel Perenna, each 20 years old, both of Donora, were today turned over to the State Police by Connellsville authorities. The young men are charged with a serious offense, referred by the parents of the local girl, 15 years old.

The girl was missing following the football game here Saturday, when Donora High School was at Fayette Field. When she did not return home the police were notified and following up clues, it was learned she was last seen in an automobile from Donora.

Accompanied by the girl's mother, H. C. Omach, city detective, went to Donora yesterday and located the girl as the two men were preparing to drive to Pittsburgh with her. Omach placed the pair under arrest and brought them to Connellsville. State Police this afternoon were to get automobiles from all parties concerned.

The girl incriminated the men, saying they refused to leave her out of the automobile in which they drove from the field to the business district. They spent the night in a barber shop in Donora.

The men were taken to Greensburg today. The girl is at the home of her parents. Her condition is not considered serious.

Lake Erie Loving Cup on Display
At Dickerson Run

A silver loving cup given to the engineering department of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie Railroad by the Dickerson Run District for being the department with the least injuries during the months of June, July and August, was brought to the Dickerson Run shops Saturday afternoon by Supervisor C. J. Hartnett of McKeesport, who had carried the cup over the entire Yough Division and displayed it at various places. It was placed on display at the offices of assistant supervisor, O. M. Danielson, at Dickerson Run, where it was viewed by the heads of other departments who congratulated the engineering department upon its success.

The Dickerson Run district extends from Connellsville to Port View.

Mr. Hartnett, in putting the cup in the hands of the engineering department, congratulated the engineers of the locomotives for their alertness in sounding the whistles while approaching gangs of workmen along the tracks and also to the telegraph and telephone operators for their promptness in sending and receiving messages.

A similar contest is being put on during the months of September, October and November.

SALVATION ARMY APPEAL WILL BE OVER TOP SOON

Returns From Back Calls Expected to Make Up Deficit Reported Sunday.

FIFTH WARD IN LEAD

"We'll go over the top. Before the week is over we will have crossed in five shapes," was the comment of Director John Davis of the Salvation Army Appeal today on the initial returns of the canvass Sunday at the close of which cash and pledges of $1,133 were reported.

In addition to the foregoing, Carroll J. Pool, vice-chairman, today reported the receipt of $75 from Lefsewing No. 3 and $35, a partial report, from Lefsewing No. 1.

The beautiful weather served to handicap the canvassers for in scores of instances families were away from home. What arrangement will be made to cover these back calls will probably be determined at a conference of Chairman Davis and his aides today.

In almost every instance the canvassers were given the most cordial reception. The great work of the Salvation Army did not need to be pointed out to them. There were no arguments as to the worthiness of the cause.

The Fifth Ward was in the lead with $219.25. The First Ward third, with $209.10; the Second Ward third, with $204.35; the Seventh fourth with $226.35, of which sum $55 was subscribed by employees of the Connellsville Silk Company.

The total reported for the day was $532 in excess of that received the first day last year.

MEYERSDALE MAN IS KILLED WHEN HORSE TRAMPLES HIS CHEST

Special to The Courier.

MEYERSDALE, Oct. 13.—Saturday morning about 8:30 o'clock John Cook was killed on the public road between Meyersdale and Sand Patch. Mr. Cook, who was employed by E. E. Klingman at the livery barn, was driving Mrs. Klingman and her little grandson to the country. When he reached the railroad crossing at Glade City, about two miles east of Meyersdale, several trains were passing, and he had to wait on the west side of the track. Mr. Cook remarked that he would get out of the buggy and hold the horse as it sometimes got very frisky. Mrs. Klingman's grandson also got out. Four engines and two passenger trains were passing at the time. The horse did not move, but for some reason when the fifth was passing it frightened the horse which broke loose from Mr. Cook who was thrown to the ground and the horse stepped upon his chest, pressing his life out of him almost instantly.

Mrs. Klingman was thrown almost through the top of the buggy but was caught in some way which saved her from being seriously injured. She has several minor bruises and cuts and her glasses were broken. The child was not injured.

Mr. Cook was about 63 years old and survived by his wife, who at the time of the accident was visiting a son at Jenner, but who arrived home Saturday afternoon. The following children also survive: Mrs. William Downey, Silas Cook and Samuel Cook of Meyersdale; Mrs. U. M. Wagner of Hookstown and Clyde Cook of Jenner.

Mr. Cook was a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church. His pastor, Rev. C. C. Fisher, officiated at the funeral services which were held at his late home in High street this afternoon. Undertaker W. C. Price was in charge. Interment was in Union Cemetery.

HEAVY DECLINE IN DEMAND FOR ONIONS, CABBAGE

By United Press.

HARRISBURG, Oct. 13.—What is the reason for the falling off in the consumption of onions and cabbage? The State Department of Agriculture would like an answer to this question, for statistics it has compiled show that onion shipments this season fell off from 72 cars last season to 28 this year. Cabbage growers likewise experienced a decline in demand for their product with 10 carloads to October 1, this season compared with 34 cars last year.

Several Connellsville consumers of onions offer this answer: "They are too fat." Onions that have been shipped into Connellsville this season have been usually so solid that there is not the temptation to eat them as the long, loose bulbs.

As to cabbage there is no reason to be given.

COUNSEL SEEKS CHANGE OF VENUE FOR MRS. WILLOW

By United Press.

MIDDLEBURGH, Oct. 13.—Because of the wave of indignation growing against Mrs. Harvey Willow in this farming community over the double trial for the murder of her husband, counsel today asked the court to grant change of venue so that an "impartial" jury may be found to render the verdict.

Ralph Shadle, the farm boy lover, was believed to have escaped the death penalty as a result of public sentiment favoring Mrs. Willow. Judge Potter, who is trying the case, recognized this influence to the extent of postponing the verdict of second degree murder, declaring it should have been first degree. Judge Potter, however, refused to grant the request for defense counsel and ordered the court to proceed.

ELECTORAL VOTE OKLAHOMA SEEMS SURE FOR DAVIS

Fight for and Against Walton for U. S. Senator Has Developed Lively Row.

BIG VOTE WILL BE POLLED

Of Which LaFollette Will Likely Receive One-Fifth; Will Be Defections From Both Old Parties; Democrats Well Organized; Speeches by Bryan.

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1924, by The Courier.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Oct. 13.—John W. Davis is reasonably certain of Oklahoma's electoral vote. While the Democratic voters are apathetic this state some times turns upside down. There's no such danger in 1924, as the fight for and against former Governor J. C. Walton, Democratic nominee for the United States Senate, is making Oklahomaans sit up and take notice.

When Robert L. Owen, Democrat, and the present senior senator from Oklahoma were at call on the Democrats of the state to repudiate Walton and cast their votes for his opponent, W. B. Pine, Republican, some idea of the intensity of the battle may be conveyed to the outside world.

Walton won in the Democratic primaries as a minority candidate. He has raised the anti-Klan issue. Newspapers like the Daily Oklahoman, which are and have been anti-Klan, decline to allow that issue to influence their feeling about Walton's candidacy, so one finds here the spectacle of most of the Democratic newspapers supporting John W. Davis and the Democratic state ticket, but holding the Democratic nominee on the senatorship.

Walton's impeachment and his record in office are given by Senator Owen as reasons for refusing to support the man nominated to succeed him. Naturally a row inside the Democratic party has its dangers. Pressure is being put on many able Democrats to vote for the whole ticket including Walton, the argument being made that defections in one place might lead to others and that might carry with it a certain peril to the Democratic nominees for supreme court judges. Six are to be elected, which makes up a majority of the court, and the thought is being distributed among Democrats that the Republicans win the court they will knock out the Jim Crow laws, a subject on which Oklahoma is as tender as South Carolina or any other state of the Solid South.

Senator LaFollette will get a big vote, perhaps 150,000. That is a little less than a fifth of the total vote expected to be cast. But there always has been a Farmer-Labor vote here and a Socialist movement. It has been somewhat obscure and hasn't always gone to the polls because of the known faultiness of that party. With LaFollette conceded to be a factor in the presidential contest, at least in being able possibly to develop the contest, the radicals are coming out to vote. Then there is the protest vote against both parties. It always amounts to something. Rising agricultural prices tend to some extent to cause discontent but it hasn't been enjoyed long enough to develop all of the protesting farmers.

John W. Davis is well liked in Oklahoma. It is interesting of this state like that, for here the newspapers have given space to his speeches and statements, and the strength of Davis is not unlike that which has been carefully cultivated by President Coolidge in states where the Republican press is all-controlling.

Governor Bryan has been making a favorable impression with his speeches in this state. The Democratic campaign is well organized and the state probably will poll an exceptionally large vote which would mean a Davis victory by anywhere from 15,000 to 2,000 votes this time, even counting the defections to LaFollette.

400,000 INSPECT
WORLD'S GREATEST
ELECTRIC ENGINE

Four hundred thousand persons, more than the population of either Cincinnati or Minneapolis, viewed the big 265-ton gearless electric locomotive of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad which toured the eastern part of the country from May to August. The actual total of those who saw the "conqueror of the Rockies," in the 39 cities where it was on exhibition, was 492,753.

The exhibition tour was conducted jointly by the railroad and the General Electric Company, which built this and a fleet of similar locomotives in 1920. The trip began on May 6 at Kalamazoo, Mich., and terminated at Chicago on August 4. In the interval, the big locomotive had traveled eastward across Michigan, Ohio, Pennsylvania and New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland and the District of Columbia and had returned through Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois with a side trip into Kentucky and another into Missouri.

A total of 91 days was consumed on the trip, and there were 72 actual exhibition days. The largest crowd was on May 16 at Cleveland, when nearly 12,000 persons viewed the locomotive. The smallest turnout was at Atlantic City on June 18, when only 206 visitors were recorded, but this was the last day of an eight-day stop in the seaside metropolis, which established the record as the city having the highest total attendance of any place where a stop was made. Nearly 21,000 viewed the monster of the rails in the eight-day period put in at Atlantic City. The average daily attendance throughout the tour was 5,691.

Throughout the trip, the greatest interest was shown by the thousands of laymen in the construction, dimensions and power of the vast electric locomotive, which daily hauls heavy passenger trains at a rate of 65 miles an hour over the Rocky Mounties, at an average daily attendance throughout the tour was 5,691.

OUR DUTY TO THE SALVATION ARMY.

The people of Conneltsville will not fail in their duty to the Salvation Army Sunday having been a day which invited many persons outdoors. It was but natural that the canvassers of the Home Service Appeal found many people. The result was that less than the full amount of the fund was subscribed on the first day of the campaign.

This was somewhat of a disappointment to the workers on the teams. Chairman Davis had expected a very complete organization with a large body of workers and the expectation was that the canvass would be completed within a few hours and that the response would be so generous that the whole amount would be secured.

Because of the absence from home of so many people it was not possible to attain the goal. It was found by some teams that the larger number of contributions were in comparatively small amounts hence the districts as a whole yielded less than had been expected.

The campaign, of course, continued during the week in order that the full amount of the budget may be secured. This is smaller than in preceding years. The entire amount will be needed however as it is anticipated that the lack of employment will create conditions requiring assistance to a number of families during the winter months.

The people of the community need not be reminded of what the Salvation Army has done year after year and often with very limited resources, relieving distress among the less fortunate citizens. There is widespread sympathy with the work the army is doing and a very general desire to help in equipping the organization to carry on. It is possible that every person who can help has not been as person who might have been. If they were missed by the canvassers Sunday they ought not to wait to be called upon in person. They should get in touch with Chairman Davis and make their contributions in as large amount as can conveniently be done, or as represents their interest in the very worthy object for which the money is given.

In Uniontown a budget of $1,000 was over-subscribed. With our budget less than three-fourths as large we ought to do proportionately as well as the County Capital has done. It is not being conceded that we are either less charitable or less willing to give when we know how efficiently our gifts will be administered and only to those who have need.

FROM THE CARAVAN TO THE AM.
 It is a coincidence many persons may not have noted that 432 years to the day after Christopher Columbus discovered America, the voyage of the ZR-3 the latest marvel in transportation began at Friedrichshafen, Germany.

But how vastly different was the object of the two historic voyages. In 1492 the world was round and Columbus was sailing westward to find a new route to the Indies. The ZR-3, on the other hand, is sailing eastward to find a new continent. It will if its voyage is successfully completed prove to the world that a new means of communication between continents has been created by the genius of men.

The ZR-3 came to America in discharge of an obligation imposed upon Germany by the terms of the Treaty of Versailles which terminated the world's greatest sailing voyage. Columbus dared the perils of unknown seas to find a new continent. The ZR-3, on the other hand, is sailing eastward to find a new continent. It will if its voyage is successfully completed prove to the world that a new means of communication between continents has been created by the genius of men.

One Income Tax Bill is All The People Can Stand

Philadelphia Evening Ledger

If there is any movement on foot in Harrisburg to levy a state income tax, it is ought to be blocked before it goes any further.

When the income tax amendment to the Federal Constitution was under consideration it was opposed by tax experts, who insisted that it would be a mistake for the states to consent to any change in the Constitution which would empower Congress to levy taxes on sources of revenue on which they might find themselves compelled to draw. But they were not heeded for all but six states ratified the amendment.

Pennsylvania was not one of the ratifying states. Its Legislature was unwilling to permit Congress to put its hands into the pockets of its citizens. But in spite of its refusal, Pennsylvania has been forced to pay the other states a ransom of $100,000,000 a year for the privilege of collecting its taxes.

The revenue of Pennsylvania is raised for the most part by taxes which do not bear directly on the individual. Of course the money ultimately comes from the people but it is so diffused by the manner of collecting it that no one feels the burden. An income tax would bring every citizen with a respectable income into direct contact with the state tax gatherer. After paying his income tax to the collector of internal revenue he would have to make out another statement of his income and pay another tax to the local tax collector.

The surrender to Washington of the income-taxing power of the states, along with the evident determination of Washington to levy as heavy taxes as the country will consent to ought to arouse the states from every form of income tax. It has been the boast of Pennsylvania that it collects its revenues without any state-wide tax. Its income comes from taxes on business of various kinds from automobile licenses and taxes on gasoline and coal paid by the users of these commodities. There is a personal property tax, it is true, but in practice this touches comparatively few citizens and only those of considerable wealth.

No one however insists that the tax system of the state is ideal. The special Tax Commission now making an inquiry into the subject was appointed because of the recognized need for revision of the laws in the interest of simplicity and equity. If the other states by their vote had not compelled the citizens of Pennsylvania to submit to a federal income tax then it might be expedient to consider a state tax on incomes among the other devices for revenue-raising.

What the country is demanding now is a reduction in taxation. It is now a fact that the federal tax should be reduced and a state income tax equal to the reduction should be levied. The psychological effect would be bad for the citizens would find that their tax bills were just the same as before the federal reduction and would insist that some one had been buncoing them.

The Tax Commission, of course, has reached no conclusions. It is seeking information from business men and tax experts to guide it in drafting its report. It is presenting eleven inquiries to those who appear before it in an effort to discover whether there is any agreement among the people on the subject. The inquiry is desirable. The conclusions reached will be awaited with interest.

ONCE ON A TIME.

Once on a time there was a lad
 Who thought the world a playground
 He roamed all the hearts were glad
 And every day was free from care
 On every night brought slumber deep
 It never bothered him to sleep

As I have said once on a time
 There was a boy who roamed in play
 And thought that trees were meant to climb
 And trouble something far away
 Then he was fond of all things sweet
 It never bothered him to eat

He was old people shiver when
 Bluff winter came with ice and snow
 He heard the women and the men
 Regret that summer had to go
 But he was young and like of men
 And winter never bothered him

Time was that boy could scarce believe
 His father age was forty-three
 In vain he struggled to conceive
 Alas! if that lad lived to be
 When every dream was tipped with gold
 He thought that forty three was old

Today that lad is forty-three
 How swiftly do the years go by
 No more he dares to climb a tree
 No more he feasts on apple pie
 When winter comes he dreads the cold
 But he denies that he is old

Postmaster Collins Makes Suggestions for Handling Foreign Christmas Mail

Postmaster J. E. Collins offers the following suggestions favoring the preparation and mailing of Christmas letters and parcels to foreign countries, which if carefully followed, will materially assist in rapid handling and delivery at destination.
Mail Early—In order to insure delivery before Christmas, it is desirable that articles, particularly parcel-post packages, be mailed early. This will avoid possible delay due to more or less congestion in foreign postoffices around Christmas time.
Letters—The use of strong envelopes prevents the loss of inclosures and assures the delivery in good order. Keep in mind the distance foreign mail has to travel.
Firms—Articles sent at the printed-matter rate should also be securely wrapped and all heavy packages should be tightly tied with a strong twine. Packages must not be sealed.
Parcel Post—Packages should be packed securely, wrapped in strong paper, and tied with a good stout cord. Bagging, canvas, and similar material makes excellent wrapping for unbreakable articles, and parcels so wrapped always reach their destination in good order. Breakage, loss and delay result when flimsy wrapping are used or packages are carelessly packed. If a package is worth sending, it is worth good packing and wrapping. Hand in parcels at the postoffice window to make sure that the proper postage (and transit charge, if any) is fully prepaid and that the necessary number of customs declarations are attached.
Address—The address on the envelope or wrapper should be in ink, correct, legible, and complete. The name of the province in which the town is located is a very important part of the address and should not be omitted. If it is found necessary to write the address in a foreign language, the address should also be written in English (not all clerks can read foreign languages). The name and address of the sender should appear on all packages of mail; preferably in the upper left corner.
Postage—If the postage is not fully prepaid the address is charged double postage on delivery. When in doubt about postage of other particulars, inquire at the postoffice. The postage stamps should be affixed to the address side of the envelope or wrapper and in the upper right hand corner.
Registration—All valuable mail should be registered. The fee is ten cents in addition to the postage. Letters and parcels for all Postal Union Countries may be registered, and parcel-post packages for a number of countries. Parcel-post packages for Europe may be registered when addressed to Austria, Belgium, Czechoslovakia, Denmark, Estonia, Finland, Germany, Hungary, Latvia, Lithuania, Norway, Poland, Portugal, Sweden, Switzerland and Yugoslavia.

A vigorous temper is not as easy as an old shoe are generally of a little worth.—Spurgeon.

SUBSTANTIAL FOODS

A salad may be something more than a bit of green and dressing, though that is often all that is required. A hearty salad is quite enough for a main dish.

Chopped hard-cooked eggs, served with celery, or a little potato, green pepper, or chopped cooked beets, with a good boiled dressing, makes a good meal.

Chopped cooked beets, a bit of scraped onion and a cupful of more of diced tender celery, mixed with mayonnaise which has been heated pink, served on blanched lettuce, sprinkled with chopped or shredded almonds, makes a most satisfying salad.

Boiled String Beans.—Cook one quart of tomatoes with one cupful of water, one and one-half teaspoons of salt, one-fourth teaspoonful of pepper, four cloves, one bay leaf, one tablespoonful of sugar, one teaspoonful of mustard, and one small minced onion. Strain and pour the mixture over two tablespoonfuls of gelatin which has been softened in one-fourth of a cupful of cold water. Cool until it begins to stiffen and add one and one-half cupfuls of shrimps which have been well cleaned and cut into halves, then add one-half cupful of diced celery and one-fourth of a cupful of sliced green pepper which has been parboiled and the skin removed. Pour into individual molds and chill until hardened. When ready to serve, turn out on beds of lettuce and garnish with boiled dressing or mayonnaise, as preferred.

Salmon and Pea Salad.—Take a can of salmon, removing all skin and bones, add an equal amount of cooked peas, season well and serve with a highly seasoned boiled dressing to which a chopped sour pickle has been added. Serve on bed lettuce with plenty of good dressing for a garnish.

Here is a main dish which is supposed to be entirely satisfying to any appetite: Take equal parts of chopped green peas and sweet corn pressed from the kernels, chopped raisins and dates mixed with honey and olive oil, pressed into cups to mold. Serve with a sauce prepared with sweet cream, honey, maple syrup and nut meal made from ground Brazil nuts.

Women Train as Bankers in China; Run Own Bank

Peking.—Thirty girl students have graduated from a "school of banking" established in Peking two years ago, and will be appointed to posts as clerks and officers in the Peking Women's Commercial and Savings Bank.

The banking school was established by a Mrs. Woo, who was impressed by the success attending efforts by Chinese women in Shanghai to found a bank. The Peking women's bank is still in embryo, but it is proposed to start it with $1,000,000 and to be ready for business next spring.

In an address to the graduates, Mrs. Woo stressed the point that Chinese women should interest themselves in business to order that they may not lag behind their western sisters. By creating an earning capacity, she said, educated girls may not be forced by their parents against their will.

Mrs. Huang Hsolin, wife of ex-Premier Huang, is said to be a patroness of the new banking enterprise.

WHITE MAN

By George Agnew Chamberlain

Author of "Home," "Through the Glass," "John," "The Secret," etc.

Copyright, 1914, The Bobbs-Merrill Company

"Tell your master that I shall come in ten minutes," she said, watching him go and closed the door after him. Then she turned and hurried to the little mirror on the wall. She flushed with anger as she looked at herself. The excitement coupled with the heat had made her forget her inappropriate garb.

She rebuked the looking glass and looked around for implements of toilet. On the little table lay a comb and a single military brush, looking lonely about its mate. There were also a tin of powder, the common spritzler variety that men use, a fresh bottle of dental lotion and a sealed box, proclaiming itself in loud type the container of the only perfect toothbrush.

"Not so bad," reflected Andrea, and went to work to make the best of what was already one of God's choicest creations. But when she had finished the wonderful result only angered her. The meagerness of sitting down these garbed in an open-air camp dinner at half past five in the afternoon and face to face with a man in appropriate khaki, estranged her very accurate judgment as to what was fitting. Suddenly she remembered her clock. She rushed to the door and called to Bathrub. He came on the run, received her orders and a moment later fetched the all-concealing garment, still warm from its own bath. Andrea put it on, her bare shoulders shrinking from its hot touch.

Beneath the scarf, gleamed the white table set for two. Near it sat the man, nursing patience with a cigarette as is the way of the waiting male. He arose as Andrea drew near and threw his cigarette away. He was washed in the full dress of the tropic—white mess jacket, black tie, white waistcoat, black trousers, silk hose and pumps. Clean shaven, hair well brushed, he had dotted the 'u' and crossed the 'e' of etiquette and stood for six feet of the best brand of unassuming gentleness.

Andrea stopped several paces away and gazed at him. Her eyes filled suddenly with tears and her heart swelled in the quickness of the moment. He was thoughtful. She drew near and said in a voice that trembled slightly, "You are considerate in all little things."

She raised both hands to her throat, unhooked her clock and let it dangle from her shoulders. For an instant his eyes were those of a man of her own world. They swept over her as though they took the measure of her loveliness for the first time. They traveled with a flashing gaze from her soft hair to her flushed cheeks, down over her bare neck and into the fairy meshes of her slimy frock, and there they stopped with a jerk as though even in that moment he remembered that very short skirts and a truncated silk stocking might leave a serious gap in the all-too-frail defense of modern modesty.

Then he came back in one swift upward sweep and met her own gaze, squarely, steadily. She drew a deep breath. Something sustaining had come into the white man's gray-blue eyes, something you could lean upon. He was suddenly not of her old world. "I am afraid the soup is a little cold," he said as he stepped around to draw her chair for her.

The dinner was good beyond the reach of mere gross appetite, and it was served with a rapidity and smoothness that would have done credit to the oldest of the Feller butlers.

"Your servants are well trained," said Andrea.

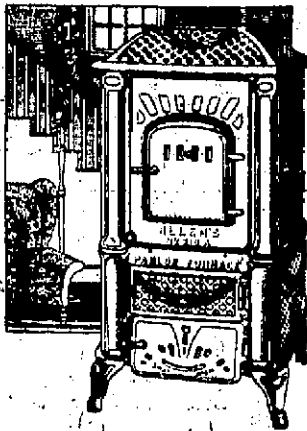

"Each has little to do," said the man. "He must do it well. That is, ordinarily, the secret of getting satisfactory work out of an African."

"Is it?" said Andrea. "I've always heard they were a different

Work of ten niggers."

"So he can, ordinarily," answered the man, almost as absently, "but there are times when ten boys, picked boys—" He stopped as if he were lost in some far reminiscence.

A silence fell to the end of the meal, which coincided with the sudden end of the tropic day.

The man spoke to the servants for the first time. They cleared the table, set it again with glasses and liquors, cigars, cigarettes and coffee, and moved it slightly to one side. Then, from the nearby but they brought out two cushioned wicker chairs, home-made but comfortable. Andrea sank into hers with a peculiar feeling of well-being mixed with surprise. The man sat down opposite her, the table within easy reach of both but not between them. Something swayed with a jerk above their heads. Andrea, startled, looked up just in time to see an enormous white disk unroll from its edges, letting fall in a circle around them a snowy mesh of bobbinet.

They, and all they needed for comfort, became enclosed in an insect-proof cage that swayed softly to the evening air of air. The servants weighted down its edges with flat stones and then lit two acetylene lamps that stood outside on stands placed at right angles to the couple within the net so that the eyes of both were spared the glare.

The man poured coffee and liquors. He Andrea's cigarette, chose a cigar for himself and sat down. During the coffee they eyed each other in silence, talking each other's measure. "It is too bad," he said finally, "that we can't take this hour for itself alone and drink together a cup of peace and stillness and comfort."

His words were half a question and it was so that Andrea understood them. She drew a deep sigh, shrugged her bare shoulders and turned squarely to her companion. "It is too bad," she said, repeating his words with bitter emphasis, "that I can't forget that on this night I lose everything that matters—too bad I can't brush catastrophe and ruin aside for the sake of a fool moon and a cigarette."

As she spoke, the man braced himself. "Everything that matters," he repeated. "What have you lost that matters? Wherein have you been ruined?"

At the Theatres

The Paramount

Far out to the storm tossed seas a little vessel wallows convulsively in the troughs of the waves, rain slants over her decks to meet the rising ocean, the wind tears mantically at her sails.

Dramatic enough in just this to make a big scene in this Paramount production of "The Fire Patrol," which will be shown at the Paramount Theatre today and Tuesday.

But the real pictorial and dramatic power grips the audience when suddenly a tremendous blast of angry fire spurts from the hold of the ship and rains down upon the sea in a million sparks. Flames lick hungrily at the helpless boat—creeping morose less from stem to stern—until it is a ball of fire tossing drunkenly on the sea.

This is one of the most interesting shots of a fire at sea ever obtained and not only is it so effectively from a picturesque standpoint but the drama that it opens is of vast implications.

The Soisson

WHEN A MAN'S A MAN—Principal Pictures screen version of "When a Man's a Man," the popular Harold Bell Wright novel will be at the Soisson today, Wednesday and Thursday.

Since Wright is America's most popular author it is safe to assume that two thirds of the audience who see "When a Man's a Man" will be true Wright fans. In this he true picture can be called a success for there were no disparaging comments as is usually the case by those that read the book.

Aside from the excellence of the cast the most interesting feature of the picture is the fact that the scenes are the actual ones developed in the book. The story was made in Williamson Valley and Prescott, Arizona and the real Cross Lumber Ranch of the story is shown.

The western atmosphere is carried in every detail and the thrilling episodes of the story build up to a climax that is positively unusual. The ending cannot be called unhappy and yet the hero does not get the girl. Still the audience does not feel cheated for the man gains something else so won't mind that the girl of his picture leaves a little glow of satisfaction with the observer.

Edward T. Clive directed the picture and the cast includes John Bowers and Marguerite de la Motte.

The Orpheum

"THE CONFIDENCE MAN"—Thomas Meighan recently demonstrated that there was nothing manly about a woman's story, as he proved when he starred his first through a dressmaker in a scene for "The Confidence Man" which is at the Orpheum today, Tuesday and Wednesday. In breaking this mirror with his first, Mr. Meighan took the chance of a disfigurement that might have caused an end of his screen career. It so happened that he only caused a severe cut on his right thumb and several scratches on his hand. When he smashed the glass bits of it flew in all directions but luckily none of them struck him in the face.

Director Victor Heerman had his cameras turned on the scene while it was one of the dramatic punches in the story. Following the climax of the scene Mr. Meighan was left two days while his hand healed up enough to go on with the picture. The man in "The Confidence Man" is a story every that will remind one of the "Miracle Man." Larry West is in the cast. Others are Charles Dorr, Clarke Helen Limoth and David Higgins.

Cokers, With Punch Still Missing, Go Down Before Donora's Heavy Onslaught

Locals Have Wonderful Defense But Cannot Gain When Running the Ball.

DEFEAT IS THIRD ONE

Still sadly lacking the punch it takes to score touchdowns, the Connelville High School football team was whitewashed again Saturday, this time falling before Donora High.

The game saw the Cokers on the defensive nearly the whole way and the times when the Orange and Black team did possess the ball found them unable to advance it.

In ground gained Connelville was far behind the victors, but for their defense credit may be given.

Something is woefully lacking in the make-up of the team. It simply has no interference and plays a worse offensive game than a back-lot aggregation of kids. The men forming the interference can't take out and and the linemen hardly participate in the play.

Saturday it took "Pete" Gans, a second string end, and a lightweight scrub, to show how the position should be played. He was at "em tooth an' nail, and considerably worried the opposing backfield. A little more individual effort on the part of some more players might help. A more concerted spirit is needed, it is believed.

The first half ended in a 6-0 tie after Hilliard had blocked Donora's attempt to score on a pass. Had the ball been caught it would have been a touchdown as the receiver was already behind the goal line.

The first touchdown came in the third period, when Donora received the kick-off and worked steadily down the field. The final one was made in the last quarter.

After the second touchdown Connelville opened up an aerial game and seemed to gain more consistently with that mode of play.

The line-up: Donora—13. Stillwagon—L. E. Friedlander, Boyd—L. T. McDougal, Stouffer—L. G. Watkins, O'Donnell—C. G. Brooks, Ellis—R. G. Stumps, Marletta—R. T. Phillips, Duns—R. E. Kilward, Hilliard—Q. B. Martak, May—L. H. Schmitt, Angle—R. H. Sarber, Trump—F. B. Gillingham.

Score by quarters: C. H. S. 0 0 0 0-0. D. H. S. 0 0 6 7-13.

Touchdowns—Sargent 2. Goals from touchdowns—Phillips 1 (place kick).

Substitutions—C. H. S. Scottdale and Vandergrift Ball Teams Play Tie

Special to The Courier.

SCOTTDALE, Oct. 13.—Scottdale High, playing at Vandergrift Saturday, held Vandergrift to a 6-0 score. The Scottdale team was outwitted 10 pounds to a man. During the first three quarters each side was held even. At the opening of the fourth quarter real ball was played. Each side went into the game with the determination of scoring. For the last five minutes of the game, the spectators were treated to football such as is very seldom seen in the high schools. During this last play the 900 rooters that accompanied the Scottdale team were remind for the rest of the game. During this time Waloy, Diskin, Reynolds and Sales starred. Garmon was easily the star for Vandergrift.

Both teams' colors were blue and white, but Vandergrift wore blue and gold jerseys. This gave the rooters an opportunity to follow their favorite during the downs as well as any place on the field.

Substitutions—Baker for Osterweis, Loucks for Ruth, Campbell for Loucks.

Umpire—Snyder. Referee—McCullough. Head linesman—H. L. Anderson.

HECLA DEFEATED BY INDEPENDENTS IN RAGGED GAME

The South Connelville Independents defeated the strong Argonne Eleven at Hecla by a score of 6-0, on Saturday. The game was a slow contest. It was played at Hecla. Frequent fumbles and ragged playing marked the game.

The Hecla team opened an aerial attack against the locals who completely spoiled it. The South Connelville touchdown came in the third quarter when H. Adams ran 25 yards for the goal. Francis' attempt to kick the extra point was blocked.

Dunbar Twp. Whitewashed By S. B. High

It was a new team that, representing Dunbar Township High School, went down to defeat before the attack of the strong South Brownsville High School Saturday at the Trotter field, 12-0. Although the faces were the same, the fighting spirit was entirely different from that shown in previous games. With new signals and plays to work on, the Red and Black outfit was slightly handicapped. The style of playing was entirely different from the other games. No scrimmages were on the book last week. With but a week's practice on the different style of playing, the showing of the Dunbarites was considered excellent.

Dunbar kicked off and South Brownsville recovered its fumble. Two first downs were registered by Smith and Haas for the Red and Black contingent, but in general, each team was obliged to punt. Dunbar was failing and the visitors recovering. The quarter ended with the ball on Brownsville's 32 yard line.

South Brownsville punted to Dunbar's 24 yard line in the opening of the second quarter. Punting to make one yard on the fourth down, Dunbar went to Brownsville's 35-yard line and the Red and Black recovered. South Brownsville was offside, but the home team took the gain. Dunbar was threatening to cross the goal. The fighting spirit was up and everyone on the sidelines were crying for a touchdown. A thrilling race for yard on the next play counted over. Smith clipped two through the line. Smith went for a first down, being stopped on the 12-yard line. On the next play, the visitors' left end was offside and the ball was put on the eight yard line. Smith lost three and Metcalfe came back by gaining four. Smith lost one on the next try. With the fourth down and eight yards to go to make a touchdown, South Brownsville threw

PRINCE OF WALES AS HAPPY HOST.

This is the first exclusive picture taken of H. R. H. the Prince of Wales, on his 22nd birthday, at High River, Alberta, Canada, where he gathered a small company of old residents for a cozy family dinner and "get together." Afterward he invited Mayor George W. Webster, of Calgary, to join him in a smoke and chat on the terrace, where they were photographed by E. L. Richardson, Secretary of the Calgary Stampede. Note the latest in riding togs worn by the Prince.

Metcalfe for a seven yard loss. Dunbar recovered the ball on the next punt on the 25-yard line but was obliged to kick.

A new spirit was demonstrated by the Dunbarites in the last quarter. Dunbar opened up with its new plays. A fake triple pass netted 20 yards. A fake punt, Metcalfe, netted another first down. The Red and Black's line plays failed and it was forced to punt, which meant several exchanges. Sargent was carried off the field, having suffered a broken rib when he was tackled in a play. With the ball on the 15-yard line, a result of a poor punt, it O. Jones checked left and for a touchdown. The kick was blocked, Dunbar kicked but the ball remained in mid-field during the remainder of the game. Score 12-0. South Brownsville.

The field reporter and principal of the Dunbar school were well pleased with the showing of its representatives, under the circumstances. With a week of hard scrimmaging the Dunbar lads are apt to make a creditable showing of themselves in the next Touchdowns—Sargent, R. O. Jones. Referee—Leighty. Umpire—Jensen. Headlinesman—Frittschard.

Grid Glances at Trotter. Smith was injured in the first quarter when tackled viciously by R. Y. Jones. He finished the game. The colored lad proved to be an excellent gambler in the game. He registered three first downs.

A fake cross back worked fine for the visitors. Dunbar's right half back was "sucked" to the left side of the line and the ball went with Sargent around left end, who crossed the goal with ease. It appears as though Dunbar went asleep on the play.

Sargent, sturdy little backfield man for South Brownsville, played the best game for the visitors. He backed the line wonderfully. At 80 times during the game was a gain made through the line where he backed it. He proved to be a wonderful ground gainer.

Dunbar threw a scare into the visitors in the last quarter when Sweeney opened up with his new plays. Thirty-five yards were netted on two plays, the visitors being unable to locate the ball.

John and "Bill" Blakely, colored ends for the Dunbarites, played a hang-up game. Both of the boys are in every play, regardless of where it goes. Landymore made several fine tackles, as did Bill Gillespie.

The Dunbar gridlers were "rigged" in new equipment when they appeared on the field. Every player wore a red jersey and red socks, with black trimmings. The numbers on the back were in black.

Gridiron Glances. "Newt" Stillwagon is to be congratulated on his game Saturday. It was an exhibition of nerve and gameness but only a few knew the handle as he was playing under. "Stilly" had a bad ball on the left elbow but he took his position in the line-up. Playing an end he was subjected to a driving attack. Nevertheless he frequently stopped the play, reaching out with one hand and jerking the runner from his feet. He seldom fell down in the effort. Once, however, he landed on the sore elbow and despite the excruciating pain remained in the game.

"Job" Hilliard was at quarterback for Connelville. Joe May was in the game when it started but when his sore leg was hurt he was removed.

It is said that these old Indian names in Cheshire had no meaning in those forms like a grinning idiot. Not alone do the want in on the farms who have a bl for facilities for marketing the milk fruit and vegetables which they have pr produce so many hours of labor but in this country where appv of the R the farm on but on conditions when the most to the farmer to ask to disk to crop to find a market for them it is no uncom- mon for the farmer to be taken to it has poor farms on the farm that are only what are able to in adherent to how better to be often hampered marketing system I is the duty of the government to improve this system There is al- ways a demand for and vegetable. More than one-half of our population now lives in towns and cities, the great portion of the farm to the city con- sumer.

A plan whereby a group of producers may market their products together means a saving of both time and money to the farmer.

On February 1922 there was no federal law recognizing market- ing associations. Legislation has true had growth up in many states but these associations had no power to regulate interstate or foreign commerce. For this reason and for the purpose of giving further encouragement to the marketing associations by the farmers of this country the Republican Congress passed the Federal Marketing Association Act.

The new law gives to men and women on the farms the right to form associations for marketing their products and to all their products outside their states and to foreign countries where they find avail- able markets.

It was because of the belief of the Republican party that the greatest production and marketing that its platform draws up at its national convention in hand was the creation of a story as- sociation for the re-organization of the marketing system on sounder and more economic lines. It was in favor of a federal system of organization for cooperative marketing.

It was the Republican party that advocated that producers should be encouraged going into business but it advocated government aid to en- able the farmers to do so.

It was the Republican party that advocated the federal system of marketing.

Of great assistance to the women on the farms has been the direction of Secretary Wallace in establishing the Bureau of Home Economics and placing on an equal footing with all other separate bureaus of the Department of Agriculture.

It was the Republican party that recognized the need of broader studies of the problems of the home.

The Republican party has been the party which has stood by the farmers in the days of adversity. The Republican party stands with the farmer and the woman on the farm and we trust our hope for national advancement and prosperity

WE in America send Roofing, Rivets and Radio Sets over to China, regularly. However, when it comes to Credit and Payment of Bills, the Celestial Sons have a satisfactory brand all of their own. thank you.

Failure to live up to an obligation is considered a disgrace in China. The duty to pay promptly is so deeply grained in the Oriental Code that any evader becomes a social outcast. Sometimes we over in America are lax in meeting our obligations. Whether this is caused by carelessness or any other reason, it is always sure to impose a burden on someone else. Besides this, it is harmful to the guilty party. On the records of fifteen thousand merchants all over the country, he—or she—is regarded as "slow pay" and the ability to secure credit is impaired.

The stores of Connellsville extend credit for your convenience. They want you to get the fullest possible benefit from it. However, out of fairness to them as well as protection to you, they ask that you meet the payments in the manner that you agreed.
